NIGERIAN COMMUNICATIONS COMMISSION SHORT FORM PROCEDURE APPLICABLE FOR SMALL CLAIMS CONSUMER DISPUTES ARBITRATION

EXPLANATORY NOTES

This Scheme is made pursuant to the powers conferred on the Nigerian Communications Commission (NCC) under section 4 (p) of the Nigerian Communications Act 2003. The scheme is principally intended for small claims consumer disputes involving amounts in dispute not exceeding ₦1,000,000 (One million Naira).

The procedure is simple, quick, informal and inexpensive. Each party may present a written statement of its arguments in the dispute together with supporting documents and comment on the argument and evidence of the other party. The arbitrator shall make the decision without an oral hearing on documents only and it is important to include all evidence upon which a party wishes to rely.

By applying for arbitration the parties agree to the non-disclosure of the proceedings, award and reasons for the award to any stranger to the proceedings unless it is necessary to do so in order to enforce the award

The Scheme is not designed to deal with complicated disputes, which should be dealt with by more formal oral hearing and evidence to ensure their proper resolution. A decision on the applicability of this procedure shall be at the discretion of the Commission. The applicable rules are the NCC short form consumer dispute resolution scheme rules.

The Commission shall appoint the arbitrator. All appointments are within the Commission's exclusive control. The decision of the arbitrator shall be final and binding on the parties.

INTRODUCTION

- 1.1 The Nigerian Communications Commission (hereinafter referred to as the “Commission”) has established this procedure pursuant to the provisions of section 4(p) of the Nigerian Communications Commission Act 2003.

CHAPTER 5

NIGERIAN COMMUNICATIONS COMMISSION ARBITRATION SCHEME

GUIDELINES AND CODE OF CONDUCT FOR ARBITRATORS

GUIDELINES OF GOOD PRACTICE

Introduction

An Arbitrator should be impartial, independent, competent, diligent and discreet. These guidelines seek to indicate the manner in which these abstract qualities may be assessed. For the purpose of these Guidelines the reference to “he” refers to both male and female arbitrators.

1. Professional Standard

An Arbitrator shall proceed diligently and efficiently to provide the parties with a just and effective resolution of their disputes, and shall be and shall remain free from bias.

2. Acceptance of Appointment

A prospective Arbitrator shall not solicit appointment and shall accept appointment if offered only if he is fully satisfied that he is able to discharge his duties without bias or the appearance of bias; that he is competent to determine the issues in dispute and has an adequate knowledge of the language of the arbitration; that he is able to give to the arbitration the time and attention which the parties are reasonably entitled to expect.

3. Elements of Bias

3.1 The criteria for assessing questions relating to bias are impartiality and independence. Partiality arises when an Arbitrator favours one of the parties, or where he is prejudiced in relation to the subject matter of the dispute.

Dependence arises from relationships between an Arbitrator and one of the parties, or with someone closely connected with one of the parties.

3.2 Facts which might lead a reasonable person, not knowing the Arbitrator’s true state of mind, to consider that the Arbitrator is dependent on or connected with a party will create an appearance of bias. The same is true if an arbitrator has a material interest in the outcome of the dispute, or if he has already taken a position in relation to it. The appearance of bias is best overcome by full disclosure as described in Guideline 4 below.

- 3.3 Any current direct or indirect business relationship between an Arbitrator and a party, or with a person who is known to be a potentially important witness, will give rise to justifiable doubts as to a prospective Arbitrator's impartiality or independence. He should decline to accept an appointment in such circumstances unless all the parties agree in writing that he may proceed. Examples of indirect relationships are where a member of the prospective Arbitrator's family, his firm, or any business partner has a business with one of the parties.
- 3.4 Past business relationships will not operate as an absolute bar to acceptance of appointment, unless they are of such magnitude or nature as to be, or appear to be, likely to affect a prospective Arbitrator's Judgment.
- 3.5 Continuous and substantial social relationships between a prospective Arbitrator and a party, or with a person who is known to be a potentially important witness in the arbitration, will give rise to justifiable doubts as to the impartiality or independence of a prospective Arbitrator.

4. Duty of Disclosure

- 4.1 A prospective Arbitrator should disclose all facts or circumstances that may give rise to justifiable doubts as to his impartiality or independence. Failure to make such disclosure creates an appearance of bias, and may of itself be a ground for disqualification even though the non-disclosed facts or circumstances would not of themselves justify disqualification.
- 4.2 A prospective Arbitrator should disclose:
 - (a) Any past or present business relationship, whether direct or indirect as illustrated in Article 3.3, with any party to the dispute, or any representative of a party, or any person known to be a potentially important witness in the arbitration. With regard to present relationships, the duty of disclosure applies irrespective of their magnitude, but with regard to past relationships only if they were of more than a trivial nature in relation to the Arbitrator's professional or business affairs. Non-disclosure of an indirect relationship unknown to a prospective arbitrator will not be a ground for disqualification unless it could have been ascertained by making reasonable enquiries;

- (b) The nature and duration of any substantial social relationships with any party or any person known to be likely to be an important witness in the arbitration;
 - (c) The extent of any prior knowledge he may have of the dispute;
 - (d) The extent of any commitments which may affect his availability to perform his duties as Arbitrator as may be reasonably anticipated.
- 4.3 The duty of disclosure continues throughout the arbitral proceedings as regards new facts or circumstances.
- 4.4 Disclosure should be made in writing and communicated to all parties.

5. Communications with Parties

- 5.1 When approached with a view to appointment, a prospective arbitrator should make sufficient enquiries in order to inform himself whether there may be any justifiable doubts regarding his impartiality or independence; whether he is competent to determine the issues in dispute: and whether he is able to give the arbitration the time and attention required. He may also respond to enquiries from those approaching him, provided that such enquiries are designed to determine his suitability and availability for the appointment and provided that the merits of the case are not discussed.
- 5.2 Throughout the arbitral proceedings, an Arbitrator should avoid any unilateral communications regarding the case with any party, or its representatives. If such communication should occur, the Arbitrator should inform the other parties of its substance.
- 5.3 An Arbitrator should not accept any gift or hospitality, directly, from any part to the arbitration. An Arbitrator should be meticulous in avoiding significant social or professional contacts with any party to the arbitration other than in the presence of other parties.

6. Duty of Diligence

An Arbitrator should devote such time and attention as the parties may reasonably require having regard to all the circumstances of the case, and shall do his best to conduct the arbitration in such a manner that costs do not rise to an unreasonable proportion of the interests at stake.

7. Confidentiality of the Deliberations

The deliberations of the Arbitrator, and the contents of the award itself, remain confidential in perpetuity unless the parties release the Arbitrator from his obligation.

8. Costs

Costs of the reference shall be in accordance with the NCC schedule of fees and expenses.

9. Award

The award should be drafted:

1. Using plain English;
2. In a logical format;
3. Setting down the reasons leading to the decisions;
4. So that the decisions are certain (e.g. specify totals of money not percentages where possible); and
5. So that the outcome is legally enforceable.

10. Procedure

An Arbitrator should adopt a procedure in which to run the arbitration which is in accordance with the wishes of the parties. If the parties are unable to agree a procedure, the Arbitrator should set the procedure. The procedure should be such as to resolve the dispute quickly, efficiently and economically.

11. Cancellation Fees

- 11.1 Cancellation charges are intended to compensate the Arbitrator for any loss likely to be suffered as result of time set aside for hearing not being required and for the inconvenience caused by cancellations. The Arbitrator should make full allowance for the possibility of mitigating his loss with respect to such charges.

12. Retention of Documents

An Arbitrator should adopt the following policy:

1. Original documents – offer to return them to the relevant party or solicitor at the end of the period for appeal against the award plus one month;
2. Photocopied documents – as for original documents;

3. Correspondence relating to the appointment, the pleading, directions, proofs of evidence and documents relating to the calculation of fees, these should be retained for six months for a straightforward case and for up to seven years for a complex case;
4. Notes of the arbitration and the report of any assessor- these should be retained for up to seven years;
5. The award – this should be retained indefinitely.

CODE OF ETHICAL CONDUCT

Rule One

An Arbitrator has an overriding obligation to act fairly and impartially as between the parties, at all stages of the proceedings.

Rule Two

An Arbitrator shall be free from bias and shall disclose any interest or relationship likely to affect his impartially or which might reasonably create an appearance of partiality or bias. This is an ongoing duty and does not cease until the arbitration has concluded. Failure to make such a disclosure itself may create an appearance of bias, and may be a ground for disqualification.

An Arbitrator shall not permit outside pressure, fear of criticism or any form of self interest to affect his decisions. An Arbitrator shall decide all the issues submitted for determination after careful deliberation and the exercise of his own impartial judgment.

An Arbitrator in communicating with the parties shall avoid impropriety or the appearance of impropriety. There shall be no private communications between an arbitrator and any party, regarding substantive issues in the case. All communication, other than proceedings at a hearing, should be in writing. Any correspondence shall remain private and confidential and shall not be copied to anyone other than the parties to the dispute, without the agreement of the parties.

An arbitrator shall not accept any gift or substantial hospitality, directly or indirectly, from any party to the arbitration, except in the presence of the other parties and/or with their consent.

Rule Three

An Arbitrator shall only accept an appointment if he has suitable experience and ability for the case and available time to proceed with the arbitration.

Rule Four

An Arbitrator shall be faithful to the relationship of trust and confidentiality inherent in that office.

Rule Five

An Arbitrator's fees and expenses shall be in accordance with the NCC schedule of fees and expenses.

Rule Six

Arbitrators may publicise their expertise and experience but shall not actively solicit appointment as Arbitrators.
